

The “best practices” solution is the one that empowers you and your team to streamline your business processes — not replace them.

Who knows your business better than you?

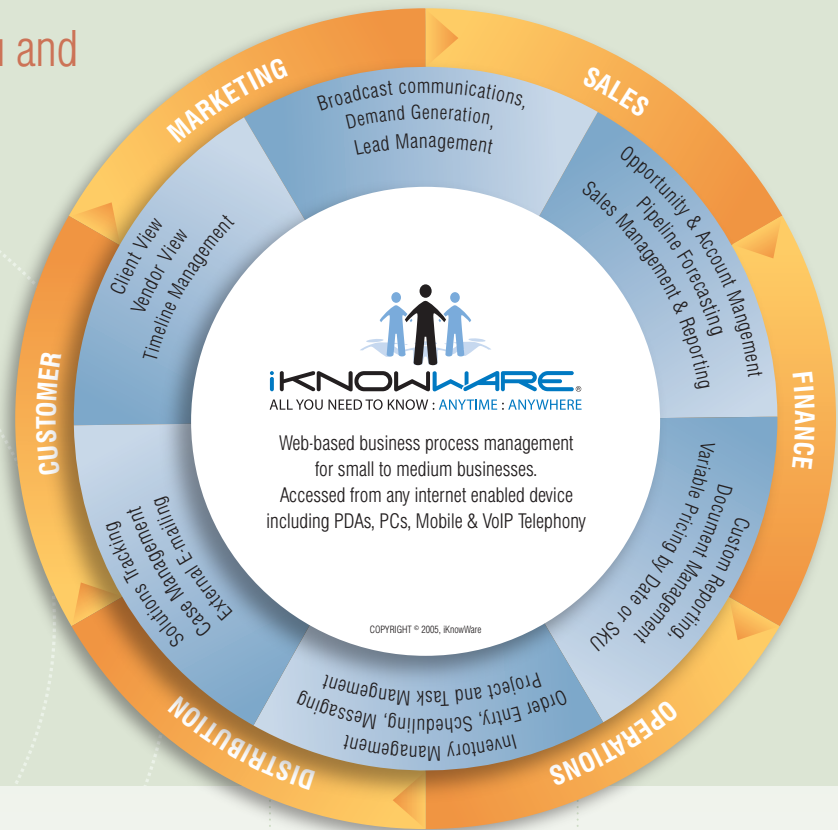

Your business success has been the result of your knowledge, your methods.

Can a software consultant really teach you and your industry professionals a better way to work?

Wouldn't it be better if you had an application that could be personalized to your people and your processes — without the cost of infrastructure, consultants or time-consuming training?

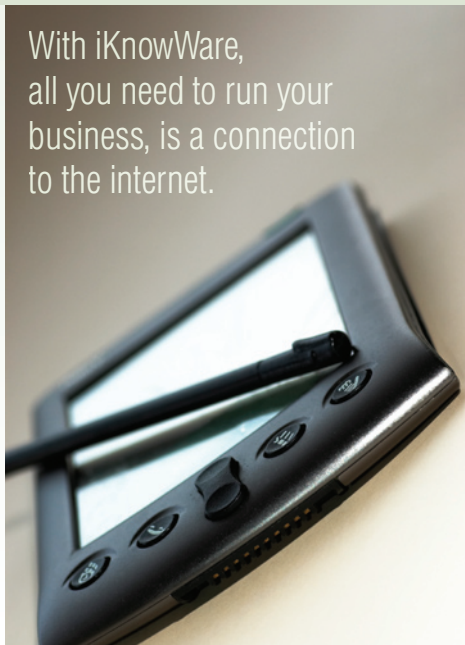

What if it you could easily integrate this system with your existing data and only pay for the parts of the product that each user uses?

That's what iKnowWare provides – along with the ability to integrate marketing, sales, finance, operations, distribution, inventory control and client interaction.

“ We reviewed several options for our Call Center, CRM, and Campaign Management and NONE have compared to iKnowWare ”

Michael T. Mantzke,
Director of Information Technology,
Coleman Powermate

With iKnowWare, all you need to run your business, is a connection to the internet.

iKnowBasic

The most vital organizational tools

Organization helps to create easy communication. iKnowWare facilitates communication within the team, and with customers. iKnowWare makes communication, scheduling of resources and reporting simple. Organization is vital for business to succeed.

Do you think you have the information you need? With iKnowWare, you know.

iKnowAdvanced

Advanced tools for growing business

Whether your company is service or product based, iKnowAdvanced has the tools you need to streamline your processes, connect sales & marketing efforts and monitor service request resolutions. Connecting different parts of the organization is vital to the growth of a company

Do you think your business is growing? With iKnowWare, you know.

iKnowProfessional

Everything a business needs in one single place

Performance measurement is the key to the long-term health of an organization. Whether your business is segmented by product centers, or faced with a distributed workforce, or deliver services, iKnowProfessional gives you the tools to understand what is working in your business and what needs some work

Do you think your company is performing at its potential? With iKnowWare, you know.